

ETHIOPIAN OPAL

Inspires love, joy, hope, purity and innocence

Chakra: Sacral and Root

Origin: Welo district of Ethiopia

Cleansing methods: No water - see care below

Element: Water

Care: These crystals are more stable than previously mined, but it is still a porous stone that absorbs water and changes its transparency or opacity. These pieces should be able to reverse back to its original state without cracking.

It is a Hydrophane Opal that forms in nodules within volcanic ash in layers of rhyolite. It occurs in a variety of colors and patterns with brilliant flashes of color.

Ethiopian opal wishes to seek out the broken parts within you so that it can seek to mend, it intensifies emotions whilst doing this, it utilizes its water energy, the stillness, quiet strength and purification which it passes to you. Boosting your will to live and joy of your earthly existence, inspiring love and passion. Working closely with the sacral and root it will work to unite all your subtle bodies into harmony and equilibrium.

If you have one with a red or brown glow it holds a powerful fire energy full of ancient wisdom and an ability to burn off past karma, clearing the way for re-birth.

Opal holds a soul holograph which makes it easier to tune into your soul's divine blueprint, helping you to access past, present and future, stimulating all your metaphysical gifts.

It is a seductive stone, associated with love and passion, desire and eroticism. It can be used to intensify what one is feeling and to release inhibitions.

Do be aware that if you are an airy type, it can divide and scatter your energy so be sure to be grounded and centered before using Opal, work with brown and black stones alongside it to aid integration.

As an Earth Worker - it connects with dragon energy for personal and planetary use. You can send its healing energy into the earth energy field to repair drains, to re-energise and stabilise the grid.

PROTECTION

It is a good ally for protection, shielding you from negative thoughts and energies and burning off karma. Its energy when summoned and asked to band around you produces a cloak of invisibility for when you are traveling through planes and do not wish to be seen. A good tool of light for shamanic journeying.

It becomes a prism of light within the aura, becoming and shining the light on the full spectrum of seen and unseen colors in your being, in doing this It soothes and clears lower vibrational emotions.

HIGH VIBRATIONS

It is a stone for all light children, rainbow and crystal children, and those of a lemurian frequency.

It is called opallios in Greek, meaning 'to see a change in color' ederos meaning 'the child of love'

THE PHYSICAL

Known as the 'eye stone' dedicated to the eyes, it soothes any eye complaints, strengthening the sight, and any diseases of the eye. Due to its water content and the way it was created it can support the body's water content, overcoming dehydration, or supporting water retention.

As a purifier it purifies the blood and kidneys, and regulates insulin production. It helps reduce fever, stimulates memory.

Fertility - Opal is supportive in issues with female hormones, PMS and menopause, and provides comfort and ease during childbirth.

GUARDIANS AND GUIDES

The Ancestors: Australian aboriginal shamans and the Native American Indians used them in ceremonial "dreamtime" and to invoke vision quests.

Angels: This stone creates a clear bridge to the angelic realms and connects so deeply to the mother goddess.

Goddess: It honor's many goddesses; Cardea, the Roman Goddess of Doorways and Entry. She protects the family and children of the house. Persephone the Queen of the underworld, and also the Greek goddess of spring. Also Chirakan -Ixmucane, the Mayan Creator Goddess; Cyhiraeth, the Welsh Goddess of Streams and Brooks. Danu the earth Goddess and Fairy Queen, and Ixchel, the Mayan Goddess of Childbirth.

UNITY CONSCIOUSNESS CONNECTING TO YOUR WHOLE

Crystal layout:

Heart- Opal

Hold it in your hands and gaze at it, turning it over, feel its edges, texture,

Gaze into its glow, its colors as they flash at you awakening to you, and allow them to jump out of the stone and surround you, its colors come to life, each with their own personality and feeling.

Welcome them into your body however they wish to unfold around and within you.

It is joyful

It is light

They hold you and allow you to see your gentleness, your tenderness and your joy.

It reminds you now of a time and a past life you were truly happy with. It was full of unity, harmony and love, take yourself to that moment and memory, whatever timeline it is on.

Embrace these feelings of wholeness, whilst Ethiopian opals light sparks around you.

You embrace you on this timeline, this vision of you, you embrace it in a warm hug,

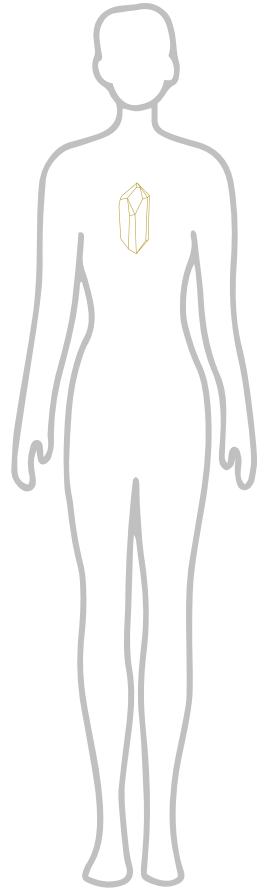

Come home, come home to yourself.

Give yourself the warmest hug, wrapped up in opal's embrace.

And then just let it continue to flow through you,

Kissing the parts that need its light, of you like a mother would tend to her child.

You thank opal for its divine light and loving embrace.
